SOCI 210 : Introduction to Sociology

This course introduces the rudimentary elements of society. This course includes introducing the dynamics of society, culture, social groups, social institutions, socialization, social processes, and social structure in looking at human behavior.

Credits 3